AN APPEAL.

THE SUPERIORESS of the ITALIAN CON-VENT, Caine Road, begs most respectfully to APPEAL to the Residents of Hongkong and the Coast Ports for their kind PATRONAGE and Support. At present owing to the daily increasing number of the Orphans, foundling Children, and destitute Women, who already exceed 'Five Hundred,' the Superioress finds herself in pressing need of further assistance. She has no fund at her disposal, the whole of the means available being earned by laborious Needle-work.

The Superioress therefore desires to state that she will be pleased to receive Orders for Gentlemen's SHIRTS and PYJAMAS, Ladies' Under-CLOTHING, and Children's DRESSES and UNDER-CLOTHING, EMBROICERY in any Form, and in Gold, Silk, Wool or Cotton, also REGIMENTAL EMBROIDERY. MATERIALS SUPPLIED if required, and Persons living at a distance can send Orders by Letter. As the Terms are very moderate the Superioress hopes to receive and merit a large share of Public Patronage.

When a youth fresh from school is initiated pudence. One of the results is that when a subject is being debated he loves to pick out a sentence here and there in an opponent's speech, and, ignoring the context. twist it into a meaning entirely different from what was intended. This juvenile style of debate has all but disappeared from journalism. It survives, however, in the columns of our morning contemporary. We have often had occasion to point out how this childish system of discussion was passed off, with all the conceit that characterises a youthful debater, for serious comment. And of this style, we have seldom seen a more striking example than the article this morning on the Sanitary Board. The writer says what sense of public responsibility can remain if a public man, when taxed with having formally proposed this, that, or the other is allowed to say, scarcely point out that Mr Francis never said anything which, in the letter or the What Mr Francis said was that he was commissioned-or, if the other side will have it, he voluntarily undertook-to frame whole of the essential parts of those previously submitted by the sub-committee to Ordinance in not mixing up drains of old houses and drains of new houses. and which would contain provisions for more effectually carrying the Health Ordinance into effect. This he did, and he told the Board at the time he laid his by-laws on the table, that, having had to take the Committee's by-laws as a framework, he had included clauses which he himself did not approve of and which he intended to oppose. At the last meeting he distinctly told the Board that he had included all the points he thought were necessary and others which he thought were not required, but which might easily be deleted, it being a much easier matter to delete a clause than we to construct one. But after all, this is but a side question and scarcely worth attention, were it not that a newspaper puts it difference between Mr Francis, as representative of the public, and Mr Price, as representative of himself and his department, is much more serious. The Surveyor General wants to get full control of all the drains in the colony, old and new. Although he and his Department are entirely responsible for all defects in private drains that may exist, he wishes to be able to compel the owners to remodel them wholesale at their own expense and according to his plans, whother these drains are proved to be a public nuisance or not. The Ordinance gives him no such power, but he endeavours to secure it by his by-laws. He also wishes to be able to deal with plans as he thinks fit, to keep them beside him for months if he likes, and to constitute himself, and not the Board, the final appeal in any dispute Excellency's attention to the fact that Ser- as to contractors or the work done by them. geant Sheik Alleen had been doubly In fact he wants to act, as he did with the punished by the loss of his medal, as well last Sanitary Board, as if the Board did not as by the loss of his wife and $1700. THE CHAIN-GANG CASE. ADJOURNED INQUEST.

The adjourned inquest on the bodies Cornelius Pereira, Ho Yau and Ho Cheong was resumed at the Magistracy this morning. Mr Wodehouse presided, and the jury were Messrs F. E. C. Georg, I. P. Madar and J. E. Gomes. The following evidence was taken :-

Inspector Stanton-I am acquainted with the locality where the chain-gang was at work. They were constructing a road from the Glass-works to the new Police Station at Kennedy Town. The Glass-works are on the level of the Praya, and the Police Station is about fifty feet up the hill, above the level of the water.
